"BREAKING BARRIERS, BUILDING BRIDGES: EMPOWERING WOMEN AT WORK"

Nick Calio is president and CEO of Airlines for America (A4A), the trade association for the country's leading passenger and cargo airlines. Calio leads the organization, which advocates for America's airlines as models of safety, customer service and environmental responsibility. Under Calio's leadership, A4A rebranded and honed its focus on being an influential voice in helping to shape legislative and regulatory policies and priorities that improve air travel for everyone.

Nicholas E. Calio
President, CEO

Sharon Pinkerton was named Senior Vice President, Legislative and Regulatory Policy for Airlines for America (A4A) in February 2011, and leads policy development on legislative and regulatory matters, working with Capitol Hill and the administration.

Sharon Pinkerton

Senior Vice President, Legislative and Regulatory Policy

In September 2011, Christine Burgeson joined Airlines for America (A4A) as Senior Vice President, Global Government Affairs. A key member of the A4A leadership team, Burgeson leads government affairs with a focus on increasing the advocacy reach and lobbying capabilities of the organization.

Christine Burgeson

Senior Vice President, Global Government Affairs

Patricia Vercelli is Senior Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary at Airlines for America. She brings to the association more than 20 years of experience in the airline financial services industry. Vercelli is responsible for A4A's legal and corporate governance, overseeing the General Counsel's office and providing corporate secretary functions.

Tim Arel

Chief Operating Officer, Air
Traffic Organization, Federal Aviation Administration

As Chief Operating Officer of the FAA's Air Traffic Organization, Mr. Timothy L. Arel is responsible for ensuring safe, efficient and secure air traffic services for approximately 50,000 aircraft operating every day over nearly 30 million square miles across the National Airspace System (NAS).

Mr. Arel provides leadership and guidance to more than 35,000 employees and oversees the daily operation of the ATO, an organization made up of air traffic controllers, technicians, engineers, pilots and a host of other technical and support personnel who provide services as part of eight service units: Air Traffic Services, Technical Operations, System Operations, Safety and Technical Training, Mission Support Services, Management Services, Flight Programs Operations and the Program Management Organization.

Throughout his 33-year career with the FAA, Mr. Arel has developed expertise in airspace security, air traffic safety, resource management and labor relations.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: TIM AREL

My Key Takeaways:

YOUR FAA EXECUTIVES: NATIONAL UPDATES AND LEADERSHIP DISCUSSION

Talethia Thomas is the Vice President for Management Services for the Air Traffic Organization (ATO). Management Services provides administrative support to all ATO Service Units enabling them to focus on their core mission. She oversees the prioritization and distribution of ATO's financial and people resources; provides technical labor relations advice; improves processes in technical hiring; provides leadership and employee development; and strengthens organizational effectiveness and employee engagement. Ms. Thomas has over 25 years of civilian service across three federal agencies, specializing in business operations and mission support.

Talethia Thomas

Vice President Management Services, Air Traffic Organization

Tracey Johnson is the Deputy Vice President (DVP), Air Traffic Services (AJT). As the DVP, Ms. Johnson is responsible for all aspects of air navigation services and organizational and programmatic activities related to the management of Airport Traffic Control Towers (Federal and Contract), Terminal Radar Approach Control facilities, Air Route Traffic Control Centers, and Combined Control Facilities. In addition, Ms. Johnson has extensive volunteer experiences ranging from building homes for Habitat for Humanity, serving at homeless shelters, and hosting food-packaging events for local and worldwide charities. She has worked with homeless women and recovering victims of human trafficking, as well as being a team lead for college and high school students for humanitarian trips to Haiti and Tanzania. These experiences have helped mold her into an effective and efficient servant leader.

Tracey Johnson

Deputy Vice President, Air Traffic Organization

Mr. Jeffrey S. Planty is the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) Vice President, Technical Operations Services for the Air Traffic Organization (ATO). In this role, Mr. Planty's primary focus is on the safe, efficient, and secure operation of the National Airspace System (NAS) through effective management of Air Navigation Services and Infrastructure. Under leadership of the COO, he directs a workforce of approximately 10,000 employees who ensure that more than 65,000 pieces of equipment and systems operate 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, at more than 6,000 facilities.

Vice President, Safety & Technical Training, Air Traffic Organization

Nick Fuller

Executive Director, Air Traffic Safety Oversight Service, Office of Aviation Safety

Nick Fuller is the Federal Aviation Administration's (FAA) Executive Director of the Air Traffic Safety Oversight Service (AOV), responsible for directing the independent, risk-based, data-driven safety oversight of air navigation services. He is the principal agency advisor to the FAA Administrator, Deputy Administrator, and Associate Administrator for Aviation Safety for all Air Traffic Organization (ATO) safety-related issues and represents the FAA in dealings with high-level officials, inside and outside of the agency, both nationally and internationally.

YOUR FAA EXECUTIVES: NATIONAL UPDATES AND LEADERSHIP DISCUSSION

Randa Hayes is currently serving as the acting Deputy Vice President of Flight Program Operations (AJF) for the FAA Air Traffic Organization, which administers the FAA Flight Program. AJF is responsible for the safe and efficient execution of a mission set including flight inspection; aviation safety training; research, development, test and evaluation support; and critical event response/transportation. Randa joined the FAA in 2014 and played key roles in projects such as the consolidation of the legacy flight programs that established AJF and the Boeing 737 MAX ungrounding effort.

Randa Hayes

Acting Vice President, Flight Program Operations, Air Traffic Organization

Rebecca Guy is the vice president of the FAA Program Management Organization (PMO). The PMO provides program and acquisition management for the FAA infrastructure programs that transform, modernize and sustain the National Airspace System (NAS), including Air Traffic Operations, Mission Support Systems and Business Support Systems. Rebecca has been with the FAA for more than 20 years.

Licensed Psychologist, Business
Mental Health Consultant

Professional: Dr. Morgan is a graduate of Brigham Young University, with a PhD in counseling psychology. Since 2002 he has worked as a licensed psychologist in multiple settings; forensic, consultation, testing, evaluation, and counseling. Having evaluated and treated more than 10,000 clients throughout his career, Dr. Morgan has gained extensive knowledge and expertise regarding human behavior. Through his professional experience, Dr. Morgan has come to understand core principles that people can use to reduce stress, improve mental endurance, and increase emotional resilience. He is able to communicate these concepts in simple, entertaining, and memorable ways. Dr. Morgan is a firm believer that people have great capacity to improve; they just need the tools and beliefs to move forward.

Personal: Dr. Morgan was born in Utah and raised in California. He had a desire to help others from a young age. Dr. Morgan developed a love for public presentations beginning in high school, as he starred in musical theater productions. Dr. Morgan has been married to the love of his life for more than 30 years. Together they have six children, four daughters-in-law, and five grandchildren. Dr. Morgan loves indoor and outdoor cycling, 80's music, and listening to live jazz. After having lived in the Pacific Northwest for 25 years, he and his wife moved back to Provo, Utah where they currently reside. Dr. Morgan's favorite hobby is going to Disneyland, where he has been more than 100 times. He considers himself an unofficial Disneyland expert. As the community of airline pilots continues to evolve, ALPA remains steadfast in its commitment to supporting all pilots within the Association. Currently, 7 percent of ALPA pilots are women, with only 2 percent of those captains.

PROMOTING WOMEN IN AVIATION

ALPA actively supports various groups, including Women in Aviation International, the International Society of Women Airline Pilots (ISA+21), Sisters of the Skies, and the Ninety-Nines, in efforts to increase the representation of women in the airline pilot community.

FAMILY ASSISTANCE SUPPORT

ALPA's Diversity, Equity, Belonging, and Inclusion Committee is focused on various aspects of diversity. The Family Assistance Working Group, a subgroup of the committee, was created to advocate for family-friendly policies that benefit all ALPA members.

INCLUSIVE UNIFORMS

ALPA is actively collaborating with multiple master executive councils to facilitate the development of inclusive uniforms that are tailored and designed for women.
